Covid-19: A Prayer of Solidarity

For all who have contracted coronavirus,
We pray for care and healing.

For those who are particularly vulnerable,
We pray for safety and protection.

For all who experience fear or anxiety,
We pray for peace of mind and spirit.

For affected families who are facing difficult decisions between food on the table or public safety,
We pray for policies that recognize their plight.

For those who do not have adequate health insurance,
We pray that no family will face financial burdens alone.

For those who are afraid to access care due to immigration status,
We pray for recognition of the God-given dignity of all.

For our brothers and sisters around the world,
We pray for shared solidarity.

For public officials and decision makers,
We pray for wisdom and guidance.

Father, during this time may your Church be a sign of hope, comfort and love to all.
Grant peace. Grant comfort. Grant healing.

Be with us, Lord. Amen.

Dear Beloved Children of God,

This is a challenging time for us, and I believe it has just begun. I know my stress level has heightened, my shoulders are tight, and I find myself awake at night thinking about you, my family, and our ministry. I am sure I am not the only one living with angst, questions, and worry. And we also remember that we live with God in our lives. Indeed, we will get through all of this with love, support, prayer, and being a community of faith, together. Even though we are social distancing, none of us is alone.

I have found it most intriguing to watch the news and social media where it seems surrogate "churches" are popping up everywhere. And I do not mean what we are doing online. Instead there are new social media groups, Nextdoor communications, internet apps and the like providing innumerable opportunities to care for our neighbors, give thanks for our blessings, and do our best to see that no one is left out. It seems our slowing down in these times is bringing us back to our roots ... to love God by loving our neighbors. What a blessing!

Speaking of which, how can we help you? Are there things that you need, but have not yet asked your church? Do we have your email and are you getting some from us? Please check your spam too. Do we have your correct phone number? Do you need a directory to help you keep connected to one another? If we have not emailed or called you in the last week, please call us (612.724.3693) or me (651.270.4960). We too want to make sure no one is left out!

I hope you are finding ways to see our Wednesday and Sunday worship online. If you have not, and would like to, please call us and we will walk you through how to connect. You can watch it live or watch it later. I am also posting videos on YouTube under Brenda Froisland, and will figure out how to cross-post our worship service. Phil has been creating music videos for you. So watch your email and subscribe to our YouTube channels to see more of what is happening.

On a serious note, Gov. Walz stated on March 23 that 40-80% of people in MN will get this virus. Some of us will not even know we have had it, some will be sick and survive, and some of our loved ones will have it and not survive. This is the terrible truth of Covid-19. I do not tell you this to upset you, but to be honest. Please know that we are all together in this and, with thanksgiving and humility, we can and will rely on our faith in the resurrected Jesus as our Messiah.

In complete honesty, Bethel Lutheran Church will come out of this time of a global pandemic different than how everything began. Some of those changes will be good (maybe even great) for us. Others of those changes will be heartbreaking. Yet, we are still here and we will be here when this is over. Supported and empowered by the God who names and claims, loves and saves each and every one of us! Please hold onto this faith in the process. And remind one another of this faith with a phone call, a note, or another gesture of love. Indeed, let's be church with and for one another, now and always!

With you, for Jesus, Pastor Brenda

Devotional books are available at the 17th Ave S door of Bethel. They are on the bench right next to the food shelf we have set up. If you have previously purchased non perishables for the MN Food-Share March campaign, you can bring them to our little pantry to share with our community.

ECOFAITH NETWORK

On a Saturday in early February eight Bethel people spent a few hours meeting at St. Luke's Lutheran in Bloomington learning about the work of the EcoFaith Network. They state their mission as:

*Responding to God's call in Genesis 2 to "till (Heb: serve) the earth and keep (Heb: care for/protect) it," the EcoFaith Network, an initiative of the Minneapolis Area Synod of the ELCA, exists to call and equip individuals and faith communities in becoming "watershed disciples" through: Connection Awareness Action

We learned how the ELCA is working in partnership to create a more sustainable world, featuring a discussion about the connection between water and climate change. We were enthused to learn that our ELCA Synod is engaged in work relating to our environment.

This meeting was very well organized and informative. We learned about the various watershed districts in the metro area, runoff, water pollution. The latter part of the meeting dealt specifically with the use of salt on our streets and sidewalks, the damage salt does to rivers and lakes and what we individually might do to reduce use of salt on our sidewalks. There was good discussion about the use of alternatives. Finally each of us wrote a letter to our state senator in support of an active bill before the legislature requiring people who commercially spread salt on streets, parking lots, sidewalks be certified in the use of salt. Much more salt is used than necessary to make safe surfaces.

Have you read the recent articles about the high level of salt going into Lake Superior? It must not/cannot continue.

"We won't save places we don't love. We can't love places we don't know. We don't know places we haven't learned." — Baba Dioum, Senegalese Environmentalist

BOARD OF ADMINISTRATORS

Greetings, Bethel congregation! We are making history with learning to live in a COVID-19 world. It is basically uncharted territory and there is no good map. That makes many people scared and anxious, with good reason. All we can do at this point is take the advice of the people who know and understand the most, filter out and clear up misconceptions, and adapt how we live each day.

I hope you have had a chance to watch our church services, both Wednesdays and Sundays. Some glitches, but we will get them worked out. Just a brief update from the board who met by phone mid-March:

- We are stopping our subscriptions to Gather and Living Lutheran. It is apparent hardly anyone asks for these and they sit unread each month in the office. It seems like a waste of money. If any of you disagree, please let me know. We are open to hearing and discussing other opinions.
- In this time of being unable to gather together, our church is very important. Please take advantage of all that Pastor Brenda is starting up. If you need help with technology, let the church office know and we will do our best to help you get connected with us.
- It is just as important to continue weekly/monthly/however often you give - offerings. This is how we keep Bethel going. In this unique time, we have to rely on technology and that actually costs more money. So we are dependent on all of you to please, keep up your giving. If you need help figuring out how to get your money to the church, please call or email us and we will help.

I'll leave it at that. May you all be safe, healthy, and feel the love of God and God's presence with you in this time. We will get through this. You are loved by all of your church family.
Yours in Christ, Ann Allison, President

MISSION COUNCIL

While we're navigating our new reality with COVID-19 spreading across the world, we each are trying to find a sense of strength, normalcy and hope amongst the unknowns. We yearn for connectivity and full hearts.

One thing that's filling my heart is thinking and dreaming about the Imagination Grant for which Jen Kilps is preparing an application. The Imagination Grant would give us money toward projects that are a culmination of years of dreaming and scheming on the Mission Council, to "unlock the positive potential of our building and grounds and develop innovative programming to combat loneliness." A large aspect of this is through rethinking and continuing to develop our outdoor space to facilitate conversation, build relationships, and provide religious and spiritual opportunities for our community. I can feel the hot July sun on my face as I think of cleaning out the rain garden, adding a natural play scape, and dreaming about the new space we would have if we took out half of our parking lot.

As you spend time thinking about the outdoors and spending time in it, stay hopeful that we'll be able to come together again soon and return with a renewed sense of community.

Stewardship Corner

Live as a Steward

Did growing up on a farm with a ½ mile driveway prepare me for social distancing and staying at home now? Could that also have prepared me to maintain a pantry of the grocery items we use? How do our life experiences relate to our current lives?

Later in April we will note the 50th anniversary of Earth Day. How will we each make a difference? People in quarantined cities around the world have noted clearer skies, cleaner waters and easier breathing. Will we continue to drive less when COVID-19 is no longer present?

Plastic items?! The farm pantry had food in glass bottles. Currently, peanut butter and salad dressing that I buy come in glass jars. Oh, and I found shampoo in a bar just like soap. What have you changed? No purchased bottles of water?

Bethel has removed 5 trees and will plant 10 trees. Have you planted a lawn that does not need as much mowing and watering? Have you planted native plants that aid bees?

In Genesis we have been told to care for all of creation—animals, plants, people. Caring for creation becomes a daily challenge.

Like so many things these days, MN Food-Share March Campaign here at Bethel is not happening.

Bethel is providing a Food Shelf → of sorts. If you are inclined to bring food, please feel free. The little pantry is near the 17th Ave door, on a bench under the overhang. We will share with our community in need.

Take what you need, leave what you can.

Report on Allies and Friends Workshop

On February 29, several of us from Bethel attended the Allies and Friends Workshop sponsored by the Minneapolis Area Synod. We sat at tables with members of other congregations and hopefully at least one Muslim. At our table we had a young Imam who helped facilitate our table discussion. The day was a combination of speakers and table discussion. Topics included: The Principles of Interfaith Work, Introduction to Islam and the Muslim Experience in Minnesota, and Islamophobia. I took notes on the "Three Rules of Religious Understanding":

- 1 - Ask the adherents, not the enemies.
- 2 - Compare like with like. In other words, don't compare the worst of Islam with the best of Christianity.
- 3 - Leave room for "holy envy." An example of this would be admiration of the Muslim dedication to prayer or memorization of the Koran.

There was a lot of material covered and we gained understanding both of Islam and how to engage in discussions with others on the topic. One aspect of this was to know your audience. There are 5 types: "the choir," base, persuadable, opposition, and unreachable. Engaging with the last group would likely be unsuccessful.

We enjoyed a delicious lunch catered by Soma Deli and Grill! I feel the workshop was worthwhile. Further workshops are likely to be held in the future.

My Possible COVID-19 Diagnosis

A couple weeks ago the news was reporting the lack of hand sanitizer in stores. I got really creative in my fight to keep Dave and I safe. I bought isopropyl alcohol, aloe and cute squeezable bottles (from TJ Maxx) and facial wipe packs that I poured alcohol into. I went to ALDI for basic food. I always buy my toilet paper in bulk so we were already set. Ironically, I went to a bunch of stores to obtain these items. Maybe a mistake.

Last week I got sick, really sick. So sick that I called my doctor who works at the U/Fairview. A triage nurse took my details and called me back after a bit. They wanted me to take the online COVID-19 diagnostic test (MN doesn't have enough tests for "mild" symptoms). I took the test and my results read that I had a respiratory infection and that I should assume I had COVID-19.

This news came as a shock. I hadn't thought my getting infected was a possibility. I was already self-isolating but the possibility of infecting Dave sent me reeling. But in all honesty, for the first couple of days I wasn't thinking much about anything. I was too sick. I couldn't think. I didn't care that family was calling and didn't call anyone myself. Time passed quickly and slowly.

After six days, I feel better. It's only now that I am reflecting on my experience. Here are some thoughts:

- It is terrifying that we don't have tests. It's a terrible feeling not knowing, for sure, that you could harm people you love. In the back of my mind I count the days, over and over, of when I was actually around people, around you.
- I am very angry with people who are not self-isolating (if they can). My sister had friends over and I can't believe she would put my frail mother at risk. (She has stopped doing that.)
- I am lonely and want to see people. I am a people person. I need contact. I am SURE many of you are feeling the same thing. (So please call me if you are lonely, I would enjoy it! 321-750-7862!)
- I am afraid for people. For health care workers most of all. And people who are frail. And for all those people who are keeping ALDI and Walgreens and our utilities working.
- I feel out of touch with you all. With my job. I love to problem solve and I love technology. I wish I could have been working with Pastor, Phil, Susie and all of you to get connected. I didn't feel part of things.
- AND I am also grateful. Grateful that people in our community seem well. Grateful that we can work together to figure out how to build community. And grateful to Pastor and Phil that they are figuring out how we can worship together.
- I know this is hard, and scary, and lonely. But take some comfort that we all need each other even if we have trouble reaching out.
- I'll set up a Mental Wellness "virtual gathering" for those of us who want to share thoughts & feelings about what is going on in our lives. It is not a time to worry what others might think of you.

I am pretty much symptom free (though I need a nap after writing this). I'll never be positive that I had the virus. I think probably, maybe. But I DO know the experience of "thinking" I have the virus. The psychology of that. My therapist and I had a good talk this morning (over Facetime). She said that people are off-the-charts scared.

But we don't have to be. We should be scared, but we are lucky. We know that we love each other with Christ's love. With Christ's grace and with his peace. Trust that. Open yourself up to it. It is the only thing that saves us in times of darkness.

Office hours will vary at this time of "Stay at Home."

If you drive by Bethel right now you'll see many workers. They are from the city and from our roofing company.

The city has arrived at our block to put in fiber optics for the city wide broadband internet. We are looking into a subscription price to see if it will save us money once it is live.

And our flat roof is being replaced, including the removal and replacement of all our solar panels. So by the time we all get back together, all of this will be complete.

And inside the building, there is a lot of deep cleaning going on. Also, the Fireside Room is getting a new paint job. We are using this time well.

OPPORTUNITIES

As I write this article, I am sitting in a dark sanctuary, the clicking of my computer keys and birds the only sounds. Not knowing when the next in-person service will be held with a full congregation is a bit sad. To many, this may be quite bleak, especially as a musician who relies on the size of the sanctuary to carry the music to the listener's ears. Yes, I do certainly look forward to the day that we are all back together as music will never be the same digitally as it is in real life. However, this time has led me down new alleys of sharing my talents, forced me to try new things, and given me the chance to take a step back from the hectic life that I led. The last point is important because the more time I have, the more creative I seem to be.

I have noticed other positive things throughout the last weeks as well. People outside on walks seem to be in no hurry to their next engagement, but are eager to say "hello" as they walk past. Dads playing with kids in the median of the streets – a sight that seemed to be reserved only for the Fourth of July, or Thanksgiving. This disconnect has seemingly connected us in ways in which we have only scratched the surface of thus far. And I am excited to see the lasting benefits. I'm not so sure what that means about the music I make. I have been making weekly videos, playing for live-streaming services, and while that may fulfill the soul of others, it is certainly not the same as accompanying a hymn with a congregation singing their hearts out. Maybe I just need to find my way to connect...

I am reminded of musicians less fortunate from the past and wonder how they turned their misfortunes into opportunities. One of those musicians is Louis Vierne. Vierne was a French organist born in October of 1870 and seemed to have a life marred with misfortune. He was born legally blind yet seemed to have a gift for music making. Even after studying and working at the Paris Conservatory for many years, he was expected to become professor of organ but that was never the case as other colleagues were appointed in front of him. His first wife cheated on him and subsequent relationships ended poorly as well. He injured his leg to the point of almost needing it amputated. It never ended up needing to be amputated, however, he had to relearn how he used his legs on the organ. Vierne's youngest son died of tuberculosis. His elder son and brother both died fighting in World War I. To cap it all off, Vierne died at the organ console while giving a concert to a crowd of 3000 at Notre Dame in Paris.

Vierne led an entire life of misfortune yet turned his life into the opportunity to compose and share that music with the entire world. While we are away from one another, let us focus on the opportunities and look to what else we can discover in our time apart.

Phil Radtke
